WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW:

The new law increases the Code Sec. 25C residential energy property tax credits from 10% to 30%, raises the maximum cap to a $1,500 aggregate amount for 2009 and 2010 installations, eliminates the $500 lifetime cap, and makes several other modifications.

- Installations on the eligible property must take place from Jan. 1, 2009 to Dec. 31, 2010.
- Not all EnergyStar labeled products will qualify for the credit.
- 30% of the cost of qualified materials (not labor) up to $1500 can be credited.
- Maximum credit per homeowner for all improvements combined is $1,500.
- A tax credit is an immediate deduction from tax liability, not a tax deduction or rebate.
- Pre-2008 credits are not counted toward the new $1,500 maximum.
- These tax credits are not available on new homes.
